

Elżbieta Szychta

The article presents properties of multiresonant ZVS Cuk converter. The control system of the converter is based on PWM technique. The operating range of the converter is defined where ZVS operation is assured. Control characteristics are given and the converter's efficiency is defined. The converter's operation is analysed on the basis of simulation testing.

Download full text