

A New Vision of PQ Research for the Next 10 Years

Written by Administrator

Bill Howe

The Electric Power Research Institute has created a detailed vision for power quality research for the next 10 years. The EPRI PQ MasterPlan document defines not only specific needs and objectives of PQ research for the next 10-20 years, but also presents a renewed and vigorous vision for the role that PQ can and should play in enhancing the economic performance of modern electric power suppliers, manufacturers, and other key industry partners.

Download full text